BRITISH COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, LONDON.
It has become a duty to acquaint the public that the gentlemen of the Improved Hygeine Vegetable Pills which are prescribed in accordance with the doctrines of the British College of Physicians and Surgeons, London, and which are recommended by the writings and practice of Sir Astley Cooper, Mr. Abernethy, and the most eminent Physicians and Practitioners of Europe and America, are signed on the outer cover of every package, in the following lawfully and properly stamped manner:—
JOSEPH RALPH, M.D.—GRADUATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF EDINBURGH—MEMBER OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS, LONDON—LECTURER ON MIDWIFERY AND THE DISEASES OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN—AND AUTHOR OF THE "FAMILY PHYSICIAN, A DOMESTIC GUIDE TO MEDICINE."
(Note. The various documents, Diplomas and stamped certificates, which show the connection of the Author with the Institution, mentioned are publicly exhibited at the General Office, Cornhill street, N. Y., and may be seen by any individual at any time.)
Nothing seems to have afforded more general satisfaction and advantage to society, than having the Hygeine Medicine prescribed and prepared by a regular and practical physician, and one who may at all times be consulted, or appealed to, either by post or otherwise, on the subject of its operation and use. This also is the more appreciated in consequence of the number of different medicines which are daily advertised under various pretences in the name of "Hygeine" and "Original Hygeine."
The directions which accompany every package of this Domestic Medicine, are exceedingly plain and particular, and under the head of each disorder separately. Those who keep this medicine by them, especially country families, find that nothing is more economical or better adapted for family use, and being free from mercury or any hurtful property, they may be resorted to with perfect safety. Neither is it too much to state with regard to truth, that thousands are indebted to this medicine for the preservation of life and health.
The connection which exists between the organs of digestion and almost all diseases, being the basis of this Domestic Medicine, there is scarcely a disorder incident to human nature in which they are not taken advantage of, and those disorders in which the most remarkable instances of bilious disorders, Dyspepsia, and additions of the head and nervous complaints, with all those various disorders which originate in hot humors, Scrophulous, Cutaneous Diseases, Jaundice, Liver Complaints, Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Hemorrhoids, and all those disorders which threaten Consumption, and all other weaknesses in the Urinary and Genital organs.
This Medicine also, in a peculiar manner, is adapted to the disorders of the female constitution, both in early and mature periods of life.
Wholesale Agents, Boston, who are able to supply the surrounding country stores on the same liberal terms as the general office, N. Y., are WILLIAM WARD & Co., No. 27, India St. Retail Agents are the following:—

POETRY.
ON MY GREY HAIRS.
BY W. JERDAN.

Ten years ago, ye monitors,
How I abhorred your hue,
And plucked you singly from your hold
As if I'd conquer you!
And so I did, like knights of old,
Who fancied overthrow,
And funded immortality
More sure the more he slew.
Those years are fled—I greet you now
The dearest guests to me—
Why should the stem live, when the bough
Falls withered from the tree?
When keen affliction's piercing blast
Hath nipped the foliage free;
And when the storm hath torn the hopes
Of blossoms ceased to be.

I greet ye, now ye clustering come,
And tell me of the past;
Of dear misfortune's saddening time,
With bitterness of cast;
Of friends who friends have been—
As fate would have it—
Poor worldlings linked unto the world
As 'twould forever last.
Of these ye speak, and I, grey hairs,
Rejoice in what is o'er;
Rejoice, because what hath been felt,
Again can touch no more.
But more rejoice, because ye point
To that untroubled shore,
Where, thrilly shed on my cold brow,
We'll rest—though oceans roar.
My own grey hairs, I grateful hail
The promise ye impart;
For ye are certain as the wings
That plume Death's certain dart.
When love's dull tide, and passion's flow,
No longer roll or rave;
But loves, and fears, and griefs, and tears,
All centre in the grave."

SENTIMENTS.—From Bulwer.
Happiness and Goodness.—Happiness and virtue usually re-act upon each other. The best are not only the happiest, but the happiest are usually the best.

General Knowledge.—Perhaps no men are more superficial in their views, than those who cultivate one branch of learning, and only one branch;—and perhaps no men are less superficial, than those who know the outlines of many. We find, in all the deepest masters of the human heart or of the human mind, an amazingly searching and miscellaneous appetite for knowledge of all sorts, small or great.

Kindness of feeling.—We seldom find men of great annual health and power possessed of much delicacy of mind. This more genial virtues are often skin deep, and the result of mere good humor. When the nerves are somewhat weakened by ill-health, the senses of sympathy are more keen; we are less negligent of our kind. This is really the cause of that increased tendency to pity, to charity, to friendship, which comes on with the decline of life. The physically susceptible frame of woman causes her more kindly and generous feeling to vibrate more powerfully on her nerves.

Satiety.—There is a species of satiety which is productive of wisdom. When pleasure, pain, philosophy begins. I doubt whether men thoroughly attain to knowledge of the world, until they have gone through its attractions and allurements. * * * * * As many have lost the best of sickness, on which they had leisure to contemplate their past existence, and to form an improved chart of the future voyage,—so there is a sickness of the soul, when exhaustion itself is salutary, and out of the languor and the tedious we extract the seeds of moral regeneration. Much of what is most indulgent in morals, much of what is most tender and profound in poetry, have come from a sated spirit.

Resistance.—We cannot learn too early, even in boyhood, the wisdom of resistance of wrong.

Moral Rules.—My mother early and constantly taught me—Never to tell a lie, never to do a mean action, never to forsake a friend, and never to malign a foe."

Priests.—Religion and priests have the same connexion with each other, as justice and attorneys.

Balls, parties, &c.—Few men of ability, who neither marry nor desire to marry, live much among the frivolities of the world after the age of twenty-eight.

Green Old Age.—I know not a more beautiful spectacle in the world, than an old man who has gone with honor through all its storms and contests, and who retains to the last the freshness of feeling that adorned his youth.

This is the true green old age. This makes a southern winter of declining years, in which the sun-light warms, tho' the heats are gone. Such are ever welcome to the young; and sympathies unite with wisdom guides. There is this distinction between respect and veneration;—the latter has always in it something of love.

Character.—Among the happiest and proudest passions of a man is his character; it is wealth;—it is rank itself. Character is even a more felicitous reputation than glory. * * * * * What is the essence and the life of character?

Principle, integrity, independence.—They must be formed within ourselves; they must make ourselves. If, conscious of these possessions, we trust tranquilly to time and occasion to render them known, we may rest assured that our character, sooner or later, will establish itself.

Conversation.—The true spirit of conversation consists in building on another man's observation, not overturning it. Thus, the agreeable man says, "Appropos of your remark;" and the disagreeable man exclaims, "I cannot agree with you."

The citizens of Providence are to have a public meeting on the 26th inst., to devise means for promoting the sale of domestic goods in that city. It is estimated that in the course of one year from ten to twelve millions in amount are shipped from that place to the southern cities, and that the commission merchants receive upon this a profit of 5 per cent, which is equivalent to five or six hundred thousand dollars.

The N. Y. Sun undertook to anticipate the eclipse which the Almanac makers had arranged for the 15th inst. and ordered its appearance on the day previous; but notwithstanding the acknowledged power of the Press, the Almanac makers carried the day, and eclipsed the Sun on the 15th.

The steamboat Santee, arrived at Charleston on the 9th inst. from Picolata, and several officers, and 130 of the sick and wounded, belonging to the Louisiana and S. Carolina volunteers—the latter were disembarked at Jacksonville on the 6th.

Thomas G. Farnsworth, Esq., editor of the Essex Banner, has been appointed Postmaster at Haverhill, in the room of James Gale, Esq., resigned. We think this appointment must prove highly acceptable to our Haverhill neighbors.—Salem Adve.

Mr Farnsworth is a most estimable man, and cannot fail of becoming a very popular officer.

The packet ship Sally, which arrived at New York, from Havre on Monday, had on board about half a million of dollars of the French indemnity.

The Atlas appears to be quite unhappy at the success of the Texian army.

BOSTON MORNING POST.
SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1836.

The harmony of the Democratic Party.—Notwithstanding the puerile efforts of a few partisan disorganizers, the Democratic Party is strongly united. The attempt of Harrington to create dissension, and to cast odium upon the Democrats of Boston, is rebuked in severe terms by the Democratic Journals in every section of the Commonwealth. The Democracy of the country is sound to the core—neither the treachery of pretended friends, nor the intrigue, or threats of acknowledged foes, can turn it from the successful course it is now pursuing. In corroboration of this, we would call the reader's attention to the following extracts:—

Hon. David Henshaw.—This gentleman has resigned the Collectorship of Boston, which he has held during the last seven years. He has been a popular officer, esteemed and respected by the intelligent and upright of all parties. As a public officer he had few equals, and no superiors. He was impartial, and scrupulously vigilant in the execution of the laws; and at the same time careful to extend every proper facility to the Merchant.

As a politician, he has ever been consistent; and in man in the state stands higher in the estimation of her inflexible democracy. The twaddlers, the time-servers, and those who hang upon the skirts of the democratic party only for the "loaves and fishes" without success, are his enemies; but those who seek only the good of the cause, honor and respect him as one of its principal champions. Though he has retired from the Collectorship, we hope and trust that he will not be allowed to retire from the public service; but will be called to serve the government, and the people in a higher sphere.—Lowell Patriot.

The Editor of the Worcester Republican has joined the Boston loco foco party, and of course abuses those who are esteemed by the Democracy throughout the Commonwealth as among the most efficient and worthy members of the party. His course will be viewed with satisfaction by the federalists and the enemies of the principles contended for by the Republicans of Massachusetts, but cannot, we think, be in accordance with the feelings of the Democrats of Worcester County. The fate of apostasy is well understood.—Pittsfield Sun.

It is rumored that the Hon. DAVID HENSHAW, Collector at the port of Boston, is about to resign his office. His resignation seems to be regretted by almost all parties, and no man is better deserving of the regards and encomiums. Mr Henshaw is a man of great energy and industry, and a strong mind, and warm attachments. The U. S. Gazette, some time since, in alluding to this gentleman, says—"We speak of Mr. Henshaw as a politician of a school opposed to our own, in which school he certainly may rank among the masters. As a man, he belongs to that school which acknowledges ardent feelings, unvarying friendship, a high sense of honor, and a full and faithful discharge of all the duties which the varied relations of life impose. We have known him from the foot of the ladder, where honor and industry alone were his share, to the topmost round, where honors and wealth, and troops of friends cluster. But he never had occasion to despise or regret the means whereby he did ascend."—Barnstable Patriot.

The Hon. DAVID HENSHAW has resigned the office of Collector of the Customs, for the Port of Boston. We certainly have a strong ground for the inference that Mr Henshaw has discharged the official duties most unexceptionably, derived from the acknowledgments of the whigs themselves. Now that this gentleman is about to retire from office, the whigs have a sufficiency of compliments for him, as well as for some who have been named as candidates to fill the office. The Boston Post remarked the other day, that the whigs were becoming very polite—their journals were complimenting one time and eulogizing them at another—just as it happens to suit their own selfish policy.—Salem Com. Advertiser.

Hon. David Henshaw, has resigned his office as Collector of the Port of Boston. It is believed that but few will be disposed to deny him the merit of having performed the arduous and responsible duties of the office with an energy, skill and correctness, unsurpassed by any of his predecessors; and in a manner, which has extorted the approbation and applause of very many, who were opposed to his political course. The boisterous opposition, with which he had to contend on entering his office, has long since been overcome by his attention, faithfulness and urbanity. It is no more than just to acknowledge also Reminiscence.—There is a paper published in Haverhill, called the Essex Gazette, which pretends to be a great stickler for consistency. It supported Mr. Clay for the Presidency, after having sketched his character as follows:—

"There is, we think, in this political course much to condemn. But his character for immorality constitutes our principal objection to him. His private character is said to have been very bad. Not to enumerate the different species of immorality with which he is charged, it is sufficient, in our view, to say, that he is a duelist. He has, we believe, either fought, or challenged to fight several duels. The circumstance of his having, while Secretary of State, challenged and fought Mr. Randolph, is familiar to most of our readers. We contend, therefore that he cannot be a good man, else, he would not have deliberately committed so gross a violation of the laws of God. He cannot be a good citizen, else he would not have disobeyed the laws of his country, insulted the moral feelings of his fellow-citizens, and disgraced the nation abroad. And we would appeal to the good sense and good feelings and good principles of the people, and ask them whether they feel disposed to support an individual for the highest office in their gift, whom they believe to be a bad man & a bad citizen? Wherein consists the excellency of our institutions, if offices are not bestowed as the rewards of virtue as well as of talents? Why talk to youth of honor and distinction as the rewards of a virtuous life, if those are preferred, who have been pre-eminent in vice?—These, we think, are questions worthy of consideration."

We are happy to learn that we were wrong in saying that the Managers of the New York Institution for the Blind regarded with jealousy the plan proposed by our Director for raising funds in their city.

The error arose from reading an article in a New York paper signed "a Manager," and manifesting considerable spleen. That article has been denied on the part of the Managers by the President; and we are assured that they approve Dr. Howe's plan. The subject has attracted considerable attention in New York; and the plan for printing books in raised letters sufficient for all the Blind in the United States, seems so liberal as to be incapable of giving offence to any one. The Committee appointed to raise ten thousand dollars for the purpose, is headed by Albert Gallatin, and two of its members are of the Board of Managers of the New York Institution for the Blind. Success attend it.

The New Orleans Advertiser of the 5th inst. confirms the report that Santa Anna was not with his army at the time of the late battle, but was absent at Mexico.

A letter from Gen. Houston dated the 20th inst. says they had that day a skirmish with the Mexicans, and expected to be again attacked that night. During the skirmish, half of Gen. Houston's force was in ambush, for the purpose of concealing his numbers.

A letter from Matamoros, 21st ult. states that fourteen American prisoners were there, who it was expected would be shot the next day. The merchants had offered a ransom of $30,000 for their lives, and were awaiting an answer from Santa Anna. Seventeen thousand dollars had already been subscribed.

Miss A. L. Woodward's Concert, at Boylston Hall, to-morrow evening, will be sustained by the best musical talent of the city, and cannot fail of proving an exceedingly gratifying entertainment. The hall will be filled, in all probability, at an early hour; we give this hint to the many strangers now in the city, in order that they may not be disappointed by neglecting to apply in season for tickets and seats.

Celeste, in the last scene of The Wept of With-towish, on Wednesday evening, was uncommonly excellent. On dit.—It is said to be within the bounds of possibility, that the Woods may take another farewell of Boston before the "family compact" is completely dissolved.

Booth is playing in admirable style at the Lion.

Sutton, the ventriloquist, at the Artists' Gallery, Summer street, is the most amusing and astonishing man in his way the Bostonians have had among them for a long time.

Sinclair's Panorama of the battle of Navarino, at the Temple, is a magnificent affair, and as worthy of being looked at as the Diorama of the Destruction of Jerusalem, one of the most sublime and grand pictures upon canvas.

The Philadelphia Sentinel, speaking of the Farewell Benefit of the Woods, says—

"Mrs. Wood was sensibly affected by the cordiality of her reception, and at the conclusion of the opera, Mr. Wood led her forward, amid the cheers of the audience, and returned thanks in a feeling manner, for the unobtrusive patronage bestowed upon them, in which Mrs. Wood joined with her tears. Mr. Brough was also called for, and took leave in a short address."

Grant's Bathing Establishment on Craig's Bridge, is as neat and clean as a new pin, and has been thoroughly repaired and painted since last year. The ladies department has been placed in the care of a female, and in addition to the usual accommodations for gentlemen, a place has been prepared where boys may bathe at half price. The swimming bath, as well as the tubs, will be found in prime condition, and supplied with an abundance of good water.

Rhode Island was visited with a severe hail storm on Wednesday—the hail stones were some of them as big as pigeons' eggs, and one man had blood drawn from his hand by them. All the glass on the west side of the Nantuxet Lighthouse, was broken.

The New York Herald states that Mrs. Hamblin has commenced a suit for slander against Mr. Wood, the vocalist, and laid her damages at $10,000. The slander is said to be some statement made by Mr. Wood to Mr. Hamblin, of the Bowery, respecting the conduct of Mrs. Hamblin during her last visit to England.

Short work.—A Frenchman who arrived at New York on Wednesday, in the ship Alabama, from New Orleans, robbed a fellow passenger of $1000—and was arrested and committed for the theft the same day.

The Postmaster General is in New York—the merchants have tendered him, for a Post Office, the building lately occupied by the Branch Bank of the United States, in Wall street.

Mr. Cefron C. Cohn, the individual who was robbed of $1900 on board the steamboat Herald—the robber has not yet been discovered.

The Hon. J. H. Eaton, Minister to Spain, arrived at Nashville, Tenn., on the 6th inst., on his way to Washington, preparatory to his departure for Madrid.

Mr. Arnold, of Northampton, has invented a new cooking stove—we wish he would invent a machine for reducing the price of articles to cook.

A shop in Bangor, occupied by Pond & Baker, housewrights, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday last; loss about $1500—no insurance.

The body of John O. Taylor, of Lynn, who has been some time missing, was found in the pond, near the floating bridge, on Tuesday.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

The Conviction and Sentence of the Railroad Car Robbers.—After being out about half an hour yesterday forenoon, the jury returned a verdict of "Guilty," against James Grant and John Anderson, for the larceny of $25,154, from the Providence Car, on the 18th of September last. The prisoners were then asked by the Clerk, if they had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced against them, and each replied—"I leave it entirely to my counsel." Mr. Parker then observed to the Court, that it was not usual with him to interfere in reference to the sentence of prisoners, but in this case he thought that the highest punishment within the power of the Court to inflict—three years in the State Prison—should be imposed; but, as it was desirable for the benefit of the community, that the prisoners might not be both discharged at the same time, to hunt in couples, he hoped the Court would make some distinction in the period of their imprisonment.

Mr. Parker thought the offence was not the most aggravated that could have happened under the old law, inasmuch as the money had been recovered. He also reminded the Court, that the prisoners had already suffered much; they had been transferred from jail to jail, arraigned in County after County, throughout the Commonwealth, and had been nine months in close confinement, and thus in effect been severely punished before they were tried.

Mr. Parker did not further interfere, and Judge Thatcher sentenced Anderson to one day solitary, and two years and nine months confinement at hard labor in the State Prison; and Grant to one day solitary, and two years and six months, at hard labor. Neither of the prisoners exhibited the least concern either upon the announcement of the verdict, or their sentences.

Hosford will not be proceeded against for his agency in the robbery; but he will be taken off to-day in the Providence cars, by young Hayes, of New York, upon a charge of stealing a valise, containing $8,000. Bell remains here, subject to the pending indictment against him. We understand that there is likely to occur conflicting claims of sovereignty between the Nations of Massachusetts and New York. Hosford furnished the information by which Bell was arrested, and for so doing, and eliminating his other associates, received the implied protection of Massachusetts. On the other hand, New York agreed to protect Bell, if he would fork over the $170,000 of the Providence item, knowing nothing of the back debt which Bell owed Massachusetts. So now the Empire State, standing on her mighty sovereignty, says to the old Bay State, equally honorable in redeeming her pledges—"Sister Mass, as ye do unto our trusty and well-beloved subject, Bell, even so will we do unto thy servant Hosford."

Whether the dispute between the powerful and rival States, about exchanging their noble and worthy hostages, will lead to a war, or not, we cannot prophesy; but as it is best to be on the safe side, there ought to be a general burrowing and scurrying of armour throughout the State; and most of all should his Excellency the Governor get some hundred reams of militia commission-blanks printed, at our office, of course, to be filled up upon any sudden emergency.

En passant—touching the testimony of accomplices:—In the two cases which have been tried in the Municipal Court this week, the absurdity of the present arbitrary law respecting the competency of witnesses has been most amusingly, yet palpably illustrated. In the trial of Wyman, for conspiracy to cheat, his junior accomplice—a lad of 20—was offered by the Government as a witness, because it was impossible to convict Wyman of an offence in this county, without the evidence which could only be obtained, from the necessity of the case, from the accomplice; but about one or two years ago he had avowed a disbelief in a future state, and in the existence of a Supreme Being, and he was therefore rejected by the Court, "because he could not be supposed to have any reverence for the solemnity and sanctity of an oath."

But in the case of the robbers, whose conviction is above noted, Hosford, a notorious and self-confessed professional felon, was admitted as a matter of course to testify, without the Courts expressing any alarm touching his "reverence for the solemnity and sanctity of an oath." In this case we have, as Mr. Choate truly said, "Hosford, a regular Old-Bailey-Botany-Bay-ripe-English rogue," taking the stand as a competent witness; and upon his testimony the jury convict, and the Court sentences. If this be not "straining at a gnat and swallowing a camel," we have no perception of the ridiculous. There is not a particle of doubt as to the guilt of the prisoners; nor do we object to the low taking advantage of the mistrust and treachery of villains toward one another; for "a seta rogue to catch a rogue," and "when rogues fall out honest men get their due," are both good maxims, and society is fully justified in taking advantage of their application. As for Hosford, throughout the examination, he undoubtedly lied, whenever he thought it for his advantage to do so, as will be seen by what follows:—

Mr. Choate—Have you any interest, in consequence of any former transaction with Anderson, in getting him convicted? Hosford refuses to answer.

Mr. Choate—Has it not been your practice through life to be a rogue, when you thought it to be for your interest to be so?

Hosford—I decline answering that question.

Mr. Choate—Why did you come from Philadelphia to Providence?

Hosford—Probably to commit a robbery.

Question—What particular robbery?

Hosford—I don't know what particular robbery.

Question—Didn't you come for the purpose of robbing the bank?

Hosford—Why, yes; we did come on for the purpose of robbing the Providence Bank—Stimson and Turney came with me.

Question—How came you to separate after the robbery of the Car?

Hosford—We knew we should all meet at Philadelphia.

He also said that he did not pretend to be honest, and had not earned a dollar by honest labor, for the two years he had been in this country. When asked where he was at any particular period, or if he had at such time passed by any particular name, he invariably answered in the negative, till he had gained time enough to remember whether an affirmative answer might not have a tendency to implicate him in some former crime. His misstatements and contradictions as to dates and places were numerous. His examination, so replete with prevarications, equivocations, with occasional wholesale and unnecessary admissions of criminality, created a great deal of amusement; but, without his testimony, disgraceful to humanity as it was, the prisoners could not have been convicted in this county, at least; and only by hard stretching, if at all, in Middlesex county.

This circumstance renders the case the exact counterpart of Wyman's case, in which the jury returned a special verdict of "Not Guilty in the county of Suffolk." It is hardly necessary for us to add, that it is not our opinion that Hosford's testimony should have been excluded, but, on the contrary, that young Robinson's should have been admitted against Wyman.

The Rev. Chandler Robbins has been appointed to preach the next annual sermon before the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

CONGRESS.

Tuesday, May 17.—In the Senate, the bill to carry into effect the compact with Alabama and Mississippi, in regard to the five per cent. fund and the school reservations, was considered as a committee of the whole, amended and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

On motion of Mr. White, the Senate spent some time in Executive session, and then adj.

Mr. MASON of Virginia, from the Committee of Foreign Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment of the Senate to the bill from the House, to provide for carrying into effect the convention between the United States and Spain, reported adversely to said amendment. After a few remarks, the amendment of the Senate was disagreed to.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of the Navy, in accordance with an act of Congress of 20th of June, 1834, directing a transfer of appropriations, under certain circumstances, transmitting an account of moneys transferred, and of their application, which was laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

The House considered, in Committee of the Whole, the Fortification Bill; when the Committee rose, the House took up and passed the bill for the better protection of the western frontier.

On Thursday, between 12 and 1 o'clock, a fire broke out in the Bottomly Wool Store, Leicester, which, together with a large dwelling house adjoining, was consumed. There was in the factory at the time of the fire, about $3,000 worth of cotton, little of which was saved. It is supposed to have taken fire by sparks from the chimney of the dwelling house falling into the wool.—Briggs.
